Help yourself to lower workers' comp rates

— Contact your senator today -

After working over the weekend, the Florida Legislature begins its second week of the special session by working out the final, lingering details for the budget and addressing the legislation included in the expanded call.

This week's schedule has the House and Senate spending the majority of their time in appropriations conference subcommittees. Tomorrow, the Senate Banking and Insurance Committee will hear the Senate workers' compensation reform bill, SB 50A, sponsored by Senators Charlie Clary (R-Destin), JD Alexander (R-Winter Haven), and Jeff Atwater (R-Palm Beach Gardens). SB 50A is identical to the House workers' compensation bill, HB 25A, by Representative Dudley Goodlette (R-Naples) and a number of co-sponsors, which is awaiting final action in the House.

The Senate is scheduled for a floor session on Wednesday. The House may meet this week, if necessary, on the call of the speaker, Representative Johnnie Byrd (R-Plant City). The special session is scheduled to end on Tuesday, May 27.

Our last report, on Friday, May 16, provided you with the latest information on bills of interest that AIF is monitoring.

It is very important that AIF members contact their state senators to urge them to pass SB 50A (HB 25) without any amendments. SB 50A (HB 25A) contains an array of workers' compensation reforms that are necessary to reduce the cost of workers' compensation insurance. This is the last best chance to pass good legislation in the special session.
